*Effective May 11, 2018, new rules under the Bank Secrecy Act were enacted by the US government to aid in the fight against financial crimes. The rule requires Legal Entities to identify all 'beneficial owners' each time a new account or share is opened. The entity is required to provide the name, address, date of birth, social security number, and valid government issued identification for each of the following individuals (i.e., the beneficial owners):

- Any individual who directly or indirectly owns 25% or more equity interest in the Legal Entity AND
- One individual who has "significant responsibility to control, manage, or direct the Legal Entity"

In addition to the beneficial ownership requirements, valid government issued identification, social security numbers, and contact information are also required for all other signers on business accounts.
